ABC Learning Design workshop

Workshop for PhD students

Workshop topic

This workshop offers an excellent opportunity for PhD students who wish to become more confident and more reflective in teaching practice.

Although the jointly explored research methodology course is fictional, the underlying methodology is real and immediately applicable. In fact, the customised research methodology course developed during the workshop may be further used by participants in their future academic work.

The aim is for participants to acquire the ABC methodology, which they can later apply to any of their own courses. In this way, they gain not only theoretical knowledge but also a practical toolkit for designing and structuring future courses in a professional and student-centred way.

Workshop Format

- Duration: 2 hours
- Location: Central Building of the University of Szeged
- Structure: minimum 1 – maximum 4 tables, each with one team working on the methodology course
- Group size per table: minimum 3 – maximum 6 participants

Registration and Workshop Process

- Registration via the Modulo platform
- Participation in the workshop (2 hours)
- Providing feedback on the workshop
- and the option for further consultation
