Previous Event Highlights

Dr. Anett Árvay on the Campus Life (WP 5) meeting in Porto, 5-7 June 2023

In March 2022, a EUGLOH meeting was held in Munich to discuss how one of the deliverables of EUGLOH: “develop virtual transnational mobility for language learning in small groups with a mother-tongue tutor ahead of and for internationalisation at home” can be implemented. As an intercultural linguist and the head of the Hungarian Studies programs at the University of Szeged, I was honoured to join this project that turned out to be very enjoyable, effective and successful.

During the fall of 2022, the universities of Porto, Paris-Saclay and Szeged managed to pilot the Language and Cultural Survival backpack tutorials, and this June, we gathered in Porto to discuss the future of the tutorials. It was such a great experience to meet all the colleagues in person after our regular weekly online meetings.

Prof. Fatima Silva made our stay unforgettable! We did not only outline the tasks for the next academic year in detail, but explored the beauty of the city as well. Special thanks to Prof. Paula Pinto, the Dean of the Faculty of Arts, for meeting us in this unique university building, and we are grateful for the hospitality of the whole Porto team!

The experts who designed the tutorials and trained the tutors includes Carmel Keane-Davies (UPSaclay), Fátima Silva (UPorto), Anett Árvay (USZ), Sylvie Nunez (UPSaclay), Ghislaine Tamisier (UPSaclay). We really hope that the newly joining partner universities will also benefit from this project!

The project is part of the Work Package 5, Activity 5.4.2 Promotion of language and intercultural skills via tutoring.

- STEP 1: Brainstorming and definition of ambitions and terminology
- STEP 2: March 2022 – Having a three-day workshop in Munich – a pivotal moment in the project
- STEP 3: March-June – Recruiting teachers and getting local resources and support in place June – Meeting in Paris-Saclay to consolidate the programme and assess progress
- STEP 4: July-September – Recruitment of tutors, set-up of student registration and communication campaign
- STEP 5: September-October – Training tutors
- STEP 6: Starting tutorials and follow-up by teachers each week
- STEP 7: Evaluation of first edition, setting up of next ones and writing of scientific paper
