EUGLOH Talks! Video Contest Call „Technology & Global Health”

Another semester with a new EUGLOH Student Contest and a chance to travel and attend one of the biggest EUGLOH events, the Annual Summit! 🎉

Are you eager to make a difference in the world by utilizing your skills and knowledge, regardless of your field of study? 🤖 Do you believe in the power of innovation to transform healthcare on a global scale? If so, we invite you to participate in our exciting video contest focused on the intersection of technology and global health. 😊

👉 Showcase your creativity and vision for a healthier, more connected world by recording a video not longer than 3 minutes addressing the below questions!

- How might cutting-edge tech be the superhero we need for global healthcare, especially where resources are scarce?
- How can advancements in technology be leveraged to address pressing global health challenges, and what role can students of the alliance play in shaping a healthier future to all?
- How can universities utilize technology to integrate global health education and research across diverse academic disciplines, empowering all students to contribute to tackling the complex health issues facing our world?

Once you made the video, you are requested to upload your video “UNLISTED” to youtube and submit your application here where you can share the video link only with the contest organizers.

Three winners will be picked by a jury consisting of members of the EUGLOH alliance and will win the chance to travel to Szeged, Hungary free of charge to attend the 2024 Annual Summit event and showcase their video live where the top three winners will be ranked in Szeged.

The Annual Summit is the most prestigious event of the EUGLOH Alliance where all the 9 member universities come together to celebrate our partnership, to cherish professional relations, and to exchange ideas and good practices.

! Application deadline: 30th of April 2024. !

Matchmaking Event on Global Health Politics (Online + in person in Hamburg)

Aiming to bring experts from our EUGLOH community together in the field of global health politics, Prof. Max Schaub from Universität Hamburg is looking to connect with junior and senior researchers from your Universities to discuss and explore joint research activities regarding the following project idea:

👉 War, Violence, and Health: Global Perspectives on the Hidden Health Legacy of Violent Conflict

The call for collaboration is as follows:

It is well known that wars continue to kill and maim long after the fighting has stopped. However, the reasons for this phenomenon remain only partially understood. Alongside the physical destruction brought by conflict, war and violence may also have more intangible effects on health: the militarization of state institutions diverts resources away from the health sector; the normalization of the use of violence means that violence moves from the battlefields into people's homes; the change in social norms and breakdown of the social order may see an increase in unsafe sexual practices and crime; violence-induced traumas may translate into physical ailments; and exposure to violence may lead to fear and mistrust, making people hesitant to seek out health-services. Combined, these effects are likely to negatively affect health, especially of young mothers and small children. The idea is to bring together a group of interested scholars to explore these hidden health legacies of armed conflict.

👏 The ultimate goal is to host a workshop in Hamburg later this year with a small, interdisciplinary group of researchers to prepare for a joint application for a larger project. The workshop will be financed by the German DAAD-national top up funding, available at Universität Hamburg.

! Academics keen to be part of this newly forming network may register their interest by filling in this questionnaire by 15 April 2024. !

For any inquiries or additional information, please feel free to contact Prof. Max Schaub (max.schaub@uni-hamburg.de) or Ariane Hanrath (ariane.hanrath@uni-hamburg.de).
